WEIGH CHANCES OF TWO GENERALS

Y JACK BELL

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two generals who weren't there—Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur—figured prominently in presidential speculation as the Republican National Committee met today to issue a formal call for the party's June nominating convention in Philadelphia.

Neither MacArthur nor Eisenhower was represented even unofficially, as were other actual and potential candidates. But there was much discussion of their chances if a convention stalemate arises between such announced aspirants as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Several National committee members, representing the regular party organization, made it plain in informal discussions with their colleagues that they want Eisenhower's views on national and world issues in detail before they would be willing to consider him as a candidate.

Unanimous For Dewey

There was some of the same feeling about MacArthur. In this vein, Senator Morse (Ore.) told a reporter he thinks Senator Tobey (N.H.), who is sponsoring an Eisenhower slate of delegates in New Hampshire, would be doing the party a service if he would find just how the general stands on domestic issues.

Lew H. Wentz, Oklahoma National committee member, who is supporting Dewey, declined comment. J. Russell Sprague, New York committee member, told a reporter his state's 97-member delegation will be "unanimous" for Dewey.

Another Dewey supporter, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the New York governor's strategists regard Eisenhower and MacArthur as the chief threats in their campaign for a second nomination for Dewey.

But Taft supporters contend their candidate is coming up fast and will challenge Dewey for the lead on the first ballot at the convention. Senator Butler (Neb.), a Taft supporter, told a reporter he thinks the Ohioan "already has more delegates than anybody else."

I think he is the leading candidate right now," Butler declared.

DEMOCRATS SEEK UNITY

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Democratic high command has asked Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to campaign for President Truman's election next November and has received assurances of her willingness to cooperate.

Confirming this, Chairman J. Howard McGrath told a reporter he also expects James A. Farley, who broke with the late President Roosevelt in 1940 over the third term issue, to become active again during the campaign.

Farley already has made one speech, in which he prophesied that Henry Wallace's independent presidential venture may end "as a one-man party."

The national committee has no expectation that Mrs. Roosevelt will stump the country, but plans

BOY STRANGLER
BY CELL-MATESTraining School Inmates
Held In Killing At Boonville, Mo.

Boonville, Mo., Jan. 19 (AP)—Two teen-aged inmates of the Missouri Training School for Boys were held today in the death of a 15-year-old Rolland Barton who was found strangled in a segregation cell occupied by the three youths.

Sheriff Leo J. Ross identified the two as J. D. Hicks, 16, and Robert Oswald, 14. No changes have been filed.

It was the second strangulation in recent months at the school. The sheriff said Hicks and Oswald told this story:

The three, among 10 boys who escaped from the school Saturday and were recaptured, had been placed in a segregation cell. An argument ensued and Barton picked up a piece of glass from a broken window and raised it as though to strike the other two.

Hicks grabbed Barton, choked him and, with Oswald's aid, lifted Barton onto a cot. Then Hicks and Oswald tore several strips from bedding and Hicks used them to choke Barton again.

An attendant discovered the body after investigating yells of inmates in the seven second-story segregation cells.

The institution has been plagued by numerous escapes in recent months. Approximately 17 boys have escaped so far this month. The peak month last year was August, when 63 youths escaped.

De Gaulle Loses
Ground In Voting;
Communists Gain

Paris, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Communists picked up strength and Gen. Charles De Gaulle's rally of the French People (RPF) lost ground in a municipal by-election yesterday in the "Red" Paris suburb of Malakoff, complete unofficial returns showed today.

The Communists got 6,282 votes, 101 more than they got last October and retained the 13 municipal council seats they won then. The RPF got only nine seats one less than it got in October, and lost more than 600 votes.

The third force, a union of Socialists and the popular Republican movement (MRP) won five seats and 2,417 votes. Running separately last October they got two seats apiece and a total of 2,184 votes.

Bill Is Introduced
On Meat Rationing

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two Republican congress members today introduced legislation authorizing the Truman administration to set up meat rationing machinery, including printing of ration books.

The bill, sponsored by Senators Flanders (R-Vt.) and Rep. Javits (R-N.Y.), provides up to $1,000,000 to allow the agriculture department to make all necessary repairs.

Tax Slashing May Be
Eased By GOP To Win
Democratic Support

BY FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Republicans weighed a billion dollar or more cutback in their $5,600,000,000 tax slashing measure today as a bid to win Democratic votes and thereby nail down "veto proof" claims for the measure.

The decision will be made by the GOP high command of the House at a meeting tentatively set for tomorrow in Speaker Martin's office.

Even in advance of that strategy huddle, party chieftains signalled for chopping to begin on President Truman's $39,700,000,000 budget for the new fiscal year.

Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), chairman of the 105-member Senate House legislative budget committee called a group of his GOP colleagues to an informal session today to begin work on a federal spending ceiling that has been variously forecast at between $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 below the amount Mr. Truman asked for the 12 months beginning July 1.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Commerce Harriman goes before the House ways and means committee (10 a. m., EST) to take up where Secretary of the Treasury Snyder left off in pleading against the GOP tax bill and battling for the administration's substitute proposal. Mr. Truman has called for a $40 a person income tax reduction with the loss of revenue to be made up by a new $3,200,000,000 excess profits levy on corporations.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), ways and means chairman, put the "veto proof" label on his $5,600,000,000 tax-slashing bill when he introduced it. But Snyder told Congress it actually would reduce revenues by $6,305,000,000 and would put the treasury $2,100,000,000 in the red next year. He hinted strongly that the president will veto any such measure.

Some Republicans, notably on the Senate side of the capitol, have been saying privately that they consider Knutson's bill too generous.

On top of this there were reports that some influential Democrats in both the Senate and House are ready to go along on a veto-overriding attempt if the legislation is toned down.

Hence the call for tomorrow's policy session.

Warren Likely GOP Candidate

California Supporters Boom Governor As Next President

Del Monte, Calif., Jan. 19 (AP)—California Republicans, booming Gov. Earl Warren for the presidential nomination, today offered his candidacy to GOP prospectors elsewhere as a rich political strike from the Golden State.

Chairman Arthur Carlson of the California Republican assembly, unofficial but influential party organization, proclaimed 1948 "the golden year of opportunity for the Republican party."

"Lightning can strike and I think it will strike," he said. "I am confident we have the next nominee of the Republican party here in California. And the way the political picture is developing in this country, I believe we will have Earl Warren as the next president of the United States."

Speaking at the concluding session of the assembly's meeting here yesterday, Carlson said the State Central Committee later this month would set up methods for selection of California's 54-vote national convention delegation. After a committee screening of prospective delegates the final selection will be left up to Warren, he said.

The assembly formally endorsed Warren for the nomination Saturday. He announced his candidacy last year but said he would not seek support in other states.

WILD DUCKS DYING

Detroit (AP)—Nearly half of the 25,000 ducks wintering along the Detroit river will die of starvation and cold within the next ten days, according to Hy Dahlka, past president of the Michigan Bird Committee of the Michigan United Conservation club. Dahlka told the committee Sunday that hundreds of ducks were dying daily because their feathers become "water-logged" by oils in dumped waste materials.

FREAK WRECK
KILLS 3 NEAR
BATTLE CREEKTRAINS PILED UP
UNDER VIADUCT
ON US-12

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—The charred bodies of three men were pulled today from the still-smouldering wreckage of two Grand Trunk freight trains that collided near here Sunday.

The three, removed from the top of the cab of one of the locomotives, perished in the inferno that sprang up from the jumbled mass of fuel-laden tank cars, boxcars of rubber, flour, canned goods and other supplies and gondolas of coal.

They were identified as Howard Stewart, Battle Creek engineer who was filling in during the illness of the regular engineer; Henry J. Smith, Climax, Mich., the fireman; and John G. Bennett, Battle Creek, a brakeman.

Overpass Blocked

Wrecking crews, working through the night in a blowing snowstorm, had all but 15 of the overturned cars upright this morning. Contents of the 22 cars were destroyed.

There were still no estimates of the damage involved in the freak accident save the statement of a railroad official that the loss would amount to "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Added to this would be an estimated $40,000 damage done to a viaduct on highway US-12 which almost collapsed when the derailed freight cars plowed into it and undermined its supports. State police have closed the sagging viaduct to traffic.

Witnesses gave the account of the crash:

One of the 64 cars of an east-bound train, proceeding under the viaduct, suddenly threw a wheel and leaped crazily off the tracks and into a support of the viaduct.

Cars behind it piled off the tracks and were thrown into the path of a westbound train of 51 cars, only a few score feet away and gathering speed as it left Battle Creek. The westbound freight ripped through the mass, careened off the tracks and dug a three-foot trench for more than 100 feet as it plowed into the ground.

The three missing men were on the westbound train.

Thousands Watch

Immediately great flames of burning oil and benzol streaked 60 feet in the air and set fire to the wrecked cars. In all, 19 cars were burned and 18 others wrecked.

Firemen from four departments fought the blaze well into the night, bringing it under control but not entirely extinguishing it before midnight.

Crowds estimated at 10,000 gathered to view the fiery wreck, and created a traffic problem for state police and firemen. Traffic on US-12 was diverted to Michigan route 96.

State Fire Marshall Arnold Renner, after inspecting the viaduct, said it would take at least two weeks to repair the loss and reopen the bridge to traffic.

Grand Trunk officials said service could not be restored on the rail line before 24 hours.

Exhaust Gas Kills
Bartender and Girl

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—A bartender and his young woman companion were found dead early Sunday in a car parked two blocks from the former's house.

Their deaths were attributed to asphyxiation by P. Paul W. Bloxson, Kent county coroner.

The bodies of Warren G. Henry, 26, and Marie Fitzgerald, 22, were found by the bartender's brothers, Roy and Morris Henry, at 4 A.M. as they set out for an early morning ice-fishing trip.

Henry, a bartender at the Moose Lodge recreation hall, had left work an hour and a half earlier in the company of Miss Fitzgerald.

Alert Undersheriff
Nabs Bank Robbers
At Kremmling, Colo.

Hot Sulphur Springs, Colo., Jan. 19 (AP)—An alert undersheriff was credited today with the daring capture of two men shortly after the Kremmling, Colo., bank was robbed of $21,474.

Sheriff Chester McQuary said Undersheriff C. H. Van Pelt, about 40, knocked one man out as he stepped from the rear door of the bank and then captured the other by ramming his car into the fleeing man's automobile.

The two under arrest were identified as Harold Payne, 35, and Ervin W. Margerum, 42, both of Omaha. They were brought here to the Grand County jail. No charges have been filed.

Two zipper-closed bags containing the money, all currency, were found a few paces from the Bank of Kremmling.

The sheriff reported that a five-foot concrete and brick-lined vault in the bank had been drilled through and the front ends of safety deposit boxes sawed off. Sacked silver coins worth $9,000 had not been touched, McQuary said, and bank officials reported an inner safe containing $40,000 was ignored. Kremmling is 17 miles west of here.

The sheriff related:

The undersheriff, who also is town marshal of Kremmling, noted the presence of the two men in Kremmling Saturday night. Early yesterday, accompanied by Pete Engle of Kremmling, Van Pelt followed tracks in the snow to the back door of the bank.

He arrived in time to tell Margerum just leaving the bank. Payne fled ignoring shots fired by Van Pelt.

Van Pelt and Engle put Margerum in the Kremmling jail and located Payne fleeing in a new sedan. Three shots from Van Pelt failed to halt the car. The undersheriff then drove his car even with the other and rammed it into a ditch. Payne alighted with arms raised.

WITNESS DEAD
IN GRAFT CASEHeart Attack Fatal To Lobbyist Named In War Fraud Inquiry

Los Angeles, Jan. 19 (AP)—The death of Joseph F. Freeman, a Congressional lobbyist, has closed one phase of the Garrison-May war contracts fraud case.

Freeman was scheduled to face trial in Washington Jan. 27 on a perjury indictment growing out of the war frauds case, died yesterday after a heart attack.

Widely known in Southern California political circles, Freeman, 50, won a court-directed acquittal last year on the conspiracy charges which brought conviction of former Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) and Henry and Murray Garrison, wartime munitions magnates.

Freeman suffered a heart attack while testifying at the trial and was excused as a witness. His family said he had spent most of the time since last June preparing his defense against the perjury indictment, returned by a district of Columbia grand jury.

The Washington contact agent for the Garrison combine was charged with lying under oath when he told the grand jury he had not solicited money for May's campaign funds from Edward D. Feldman, head of the Atlas Car and Clay Company, Los Angeles. A $1,000 check, which the grand jury said May endorsed, was involved.

Fire at Cleveland
Drives 100 Persons
Out in Cold Night

Cleveland, Jan. 19 (AP)—Forty persons were homeless today following a $225,000 fire which swept through a row of business houses and apartments in downtown Cleveland early yesterday.

The blaze, the city's third major fire in five days, drove an estimated 100 residents into near zero cold in night clothing.

Forty refugees who escaped with only the clothing they wore were taken in charge by the disaster unit of the greater Cleveland Chapter of the American Red Cross. A number of them fled barefoot and in night clothing into the snowy street, where the temperature registered 5 above zero.

The Elliott Electric Co. was destroyed by a $250,000 fire Wednesday and two firemen lost their lives when a brick wall collapsed on them while they were fighting a $200,000 fire at a winery in the same area Friday.

TRUMAN RIVAL—Brig-Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, retired, has announced himself a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. His slogan: "No more depression, no more war and no compromise with capitalism." He says he'll wrest the nomination from President Truman at the party's convention next July.

GANDHI ACCEPTS
PEACE PLEDGESHindu Spiritual Leader
Ends Fast, Plans To Live 125 Years

By G. Milton Kelly

New Delhi, India, Jan. 19 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi's hope of harmony in India lay today in the solemn pledge by religious leaders which ended his peace fast after 121 hours and 45 minutes.

The Indian patriot and Hindu spiritual leader drank sweet lime juice at 12:45 p. m. (2:15 a. m., Eastern Standard Time) yesterday. It was his first nourishment since 11 a. m. Tuesday, when he began the fast, his fifteenth.

Last night, five hours after breaking fast, the 78-year-old Gandhi told a big prayer meeting he did so on the "pledge and counsel" of friends from Hindu-led India and Moslem-led Pakistan.

They guaranteed, he said, "complete, unbroken friendship" among Hindus, Moslems and Sikhs. Gandhi said fulfillment of this pledge would double "my intense wish to live a full span of life doing service to humanity" at least 125 years, or as some say, 133 years.

His reference was to a resolution, signed a few hours before he ended his ordeal, in which communal leaders pledged their lives as an earnest of peace.

They adopted his seven-point program for social acceptance and safety of lives and property of Moslems in India. They set up a committee of 130, of all religions, to meet nightly for a review of progress toward these ends.

Miss Paris of 1947
May Tour U. S. With American Husband

Columbus, O., Jan. 19 (AP)—"Miss Paris of 1947" and her Yank soldier sweetheart, former Private First Class Ray Mack of Columbus, honeymooned today at an undisclosed spot.

The 24-year-old stately brunette, Miss Pierrette Catherine Frouen (Kay) Trevil, and Mack were married yesterday at the First Congregational church here. The nuptials culminated a two-year-old romance, which began in Heidelberg, Germany, when Mack managed a U. S. Army club. The Parisian beauty spent there with a troupe appearing before American soldiers.

The couple planned a "short trip of two or three days" before returning to Columbus to complete details for an entertainment tour, which Mack said, would be undertaken to raise funds for disabled war veterans.

Mack, credit manager for a local clothing store, and his bride hope to reassemble the cast of the show that appeared in Heidelberg. They have announced $100,000 as the amount they hope to turn over to veterans' hospitals.

Two Men Burned
In Kalamazoo Fire

Kalamazoo, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two persons were hospitalized with burns in an explosion and fire which swept the plant of the Farmers Chemical Company laboratories here Monday forenoon at a loss of about $20,000. Thomas W. Brinkall, an employee, and Frank Guetschaw, a carpenter, were the victims.

Part of the building was blown out and the interior was completely burned out. The property is owned by Paul H. Todd, former chairman of the State Public Utilities Commission and City Commissioner and former mayor of Kalamazoo.

MONEY WON'T
SAVE EUROPE,
SENATE TOLDSTABILIZED WAGES,
FOOD PRICE CUTS
IN BARUCH PLAN

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Bernard Baruch laid before senators today an 11-point program for "peace-waging" including a "rollback" in food prices, no wage raises and no tax cuts for two years.

Baruch was a witness before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Marshall Plan for multi-billion dollar aid to Europe. He endorsed it, but told the senators:

"Dollars alone will not save Europe nor win the peace."

Baruch then proposed his domestic program, saying "the time has come to organize—to mobilize—for peace. It cannot be put off safely any longer. The time for courage and decision is here."

Guarantee For Farmers

These are the major things he proposed in that "mobilization":

1. Reduce major food prices "in exchange for guaranteeing farmers an assured price for their crops for the next three years."
2. Stabilize wages in return for this rollback.

AGAINST REDUCTIONS

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Bernard Baruch proposed today to restore an excess profits tax on corporations—but he refused to go along with President Truman and Congressional leaders who are plugging for an income tax cut.

Baruch opposed any tax reduction for two years.

Mr. Truman wants a $40 income tax cut on taxpayers and each dependent but only if Congress takes corporation profits to make up the revenue loss.

3. Restore the excess profits tax at 50 percent of wartime levels.

4. Continue rent control "with provision only for clearly justifiable increases."

5. Postpone tax reduction for two years and then cut levies gradually over a five-year period.

6. Put off all less essential state and Federal public works, giving priority to "increasing production, housing, schools, hospitals and other essential needs."

7. Set up a capital issues commission to review all public and private projects "with a view to deferring less essential projects."

8. Establish a congressional "digging committee" which would cut government costs.

9. Increase production.

Bold Attack Advised

Baruch, an adviser to presidents in two world wars, said the situation "requires a bold, resolute, concerted attack against the clawing fears of inflation and another war."

His tax and farm price rollback proposals were only subheads for an anti-inflation point of his general program.

The broader program embraced:

"1. The United States stand ready to buy all non-perishable raw materials produced anywhere and by anyone in the world for

Krieger Describes City Planning To Commission

Coordination and cooperation will bring city unity in planning for future development, whether that city is Escanaba or a city a hundred times its size, Elmer Krieger, Milwaukee, professional planning engineer, told the Escanaba planning commission in meeting with them in Escanaba city hall Saturday afternoon.

Krieger has been retained by the Escanaba city council to assist the recently appointed city planning commission in preparing a master plan for the city of Escanaba.

Describing his Saturday visit here as "reconnaissance", Krieger said that he was here to learn as much about Escanaba as possible. He will return periodically as the planning work progresses.

The members of the planning commission are Charles Gessner, John J. Bartella, Carl G. Nelson, Grover Lewis, William Warmington, Alex St. Cyr, O. V. Thatcher, Dale Vinette, J. F. Bartlett, Ex-officio members are Mayor Marvin L. Coon and City Manager A. V. Aronson.

Several members of the Escanaba city council, and the members of the city zoning appeal board also attended the initial meeting with Krieger.

Krieger said the planning commission is advisory to the city council, and broadly and sometimes in detail suggests planning for the city. Most important goal for the commission and the council is the preparation of a master plan for the physical development of the community, he added.

"The objective of your master plan will be to make Escanaba a better place in which to work and live," Krieger said.

Preparation of the master plan for the city's growth will take at least this year to complete, although a preliminary report should be ready within three to six months, he added. The speed in preparing the plan will depend to a large degree upon the cooperation of the people who are planning for what they want Escanaba to become.

"You must plan for your own city," Krieger said. "I cannot draw a plan for you and I do not intend to. I will help you, but the plan will be yours, one that you will be interested in carrying out to completion."

Certain immediate things can be accomplished in planning, he continued. One of these is to improve the city's zoning ordinance, which is "already pretty good," but needs to be brought up to date.

New maps will be prepared on zoning, and on streets, public lands, gas lines, water lines, sewer lines and other utilities.

There was some discussion of a building code, and Krieger said that Milwaukee has as an interim measure, made new building conform to FHA requirements.

Briefly, Krieger discussed the work of the board of appeals, a body appointed by the city council to hear requests for buildings in variance to the city zoning ordinance. The board of appeals cannot change the zoning, but can only rule on exceptions to it.

Iron Ore Hauling Technique Studied

Washington, D. C. (WNS) — Modern transportation techniques and equipment used in the Mesabi, Marquette, Gogebic, Cuyuna, Mesabi and Vermillion iron-ore mines in Michigan and Minnesota have been analyzed by the Bureau of Mines of the Department of the Interior, the department said.

"The tremendous progress made during the last 25 years in the transportation of broken ore from working places to the surface has paid tremendous dividends in increased production and in lower accident frequency," the bureau reported. A further result of this trend toward more efficient use of electrical and mechanical power has been the elimination of many of the "backbreaking" tasks formerly required of miners and trammers, the bureau stated.

Movement of ore from active areas to the surface, underground haulage, shaft stations and hoisting shafts, skips, cages and hoists, head frames and stock pile haulage are discussed by the bureau in its report.

Fred Holm, Well Known Resident Of Ensign, Is Dead

Fred Holm, 58, of Ensign, prominently known resident of the Ogontz community, died suddenly of a heart attack late Saturday afternoon at his home. He had been in poor health for the past year.

Mr. Holm, who had lived in Ogontz since 1913, was born in Malex, County of Wasa, Finland, August 28, 1889, and lived in Ontonagon for several years after coming to the United States in 1907.

He served as highway commissioner of Ensign township for several years, was commissioner of the Twin Springs Township park, a project in which he was deeply interested, and was an active member of the Ogontz Grange, holding the office of treasurer at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife and his aged mother and two sisters in Finland.

The body will be in state at the Anderson funeral home Tuesday afternoon. Services will be held at the funeral home chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Rev. Karl J. Hammar, Central Methodist pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Ogontz cemetery.

Hot Time Provided For Cold Speakers

Pocatello, Idaho (AP)—If you shake and freeze trying to speak to an audience, here's the club for you.

It's called the Scared Speaker's club. It was formed by Clark S. Carlile, assistant professor of speech at Idaho State college.

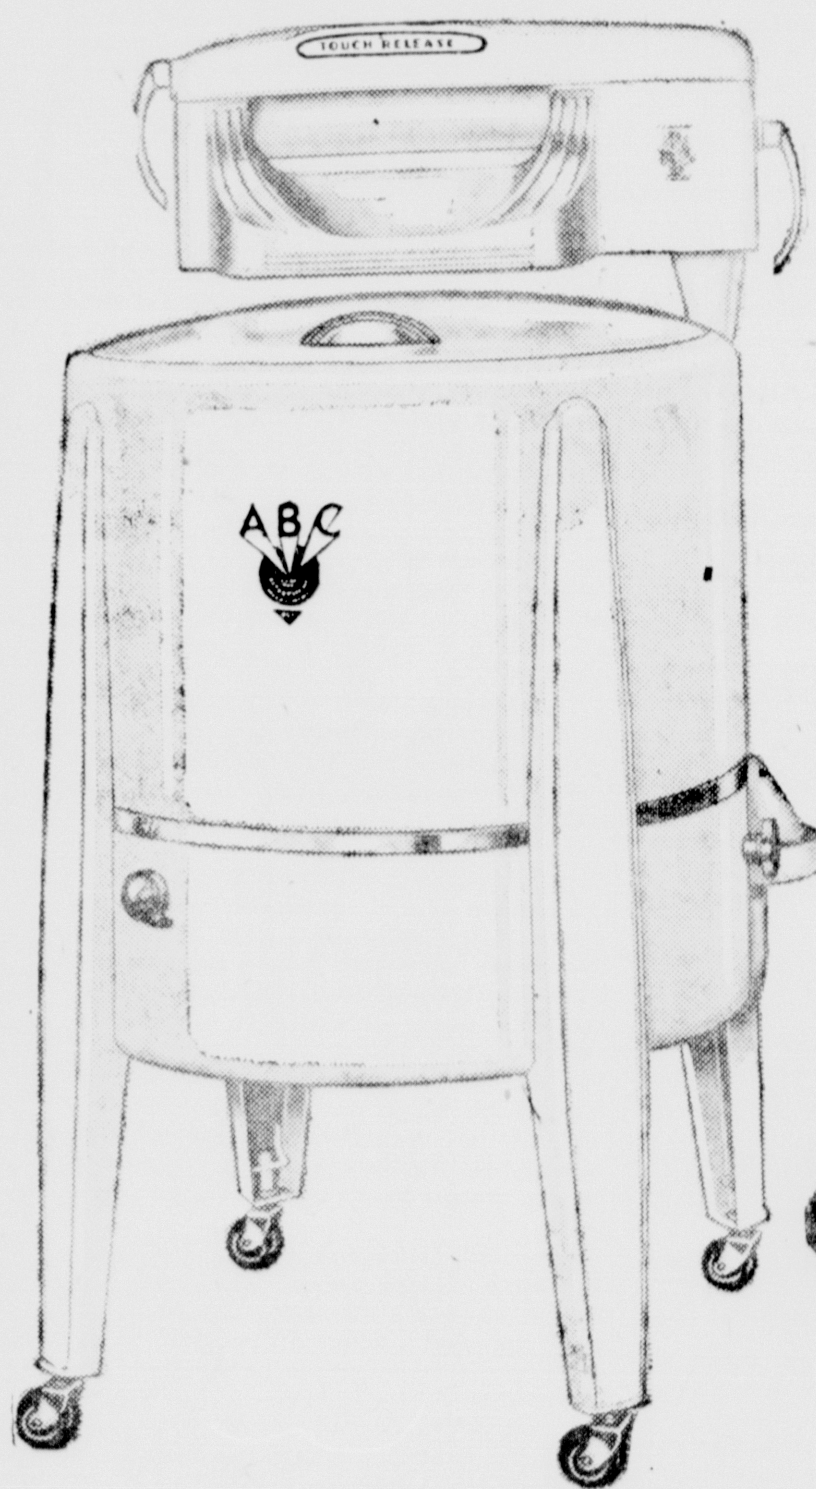

"Some students," Carlile says, "take speech courses because they know they're afraid of an audience. Standing up in a speech class is not enough. Sharing their misery outside class hours really helps them overcome the shaky feeling. Stage fright is overcome by more speaking."

Candidate Dewey

GOV. TOM DEWEY of New York has finally announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination. Since Mr. Dewey has been in the race right along and has been busily engaged in corraling votes of potential delegates to the convention, the announcement of his candidacy was merely a formality.

Political sages are trying to establish the significance of Mr. Dewey's announcement at this time and are making all sorts of conjectures. The most likely explanation, of course, is that Dewey merely felt that nothing could be gained by delaying his announcement any longer. Everyone knew he was a candidate and his announcement that he would accept the nomination if the convention chooses him was certainly not surprising.

That brings to three the number of avowed candidates for the Republican nomination—Harold Stassen, Senator Taft and Mr. Dewey. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan has declared flatly that he does not want the nomination and has asked Michigan Republicans not to commit themselves to him as a favorite son candidate. Nevertheless, it is probable that the Michigan Republicans will continue to work for Senator Vandenberg's nomination as long as there is a chance for a deadlock which would send the convention searching for a compromise candidate. In such an event the compromise man could be Vandenberg.

The position of Gen. Eisenhower in the political race is enigmatic. The general has indicated time and again that he does not seek political office. No one even knows for certain whether he is a Republican. And yet unless Dewey or Taft can swing enough support to get the nomination on an early ballot, it is possible that a stand-pede may develop for Eisenhower.

Gen. MacArthur, it seems, is already out of the race if, in fact, he was ever in it. If he held any political ambitions in the 1948 elections, it has been dissipated to a considerable extent by the left wingers who, strangely enough, have jumped on the MacArthur bandwagon. In recent days MacArthur is reported to have indicated that he prefers to remain in Japan until the peace treaty has been drafted and ratified.

Another Tax Veto?

THE PROSPECTS for income tax reduction at this session of Congress dimmed somewhat last week when administration spokesmen indicated that President Truman would veto any bill to cut taxes that does not conform with his own proposal to prevent a revenue loss to the U. S. treasury.

The president still insists that tax reduction provided for the small wage earner must be offset by upward revision of other taxes. This scheme is merely a political maneuver that is designed to attract votes from the lower income group, but without providing any appreciable easing of their tax burden. What the small wage earner saves in direct taxes he will pay in higher prices of the commodities he buys since the corporations will pass their increased tax load back to their consumers.

The administration's proposal for a blanket $40 tax cut for everyone stands virtually no chance for adoption at the present session. Republicans who control both houses of Congress have already declared the president's plan, "dead as a mackerel."

Hope now for tax relief in 1948 depends upon the ability of the Republican majority to override a prospective veto of a Republican-sponsored tax reduction bill. Such a bill, if it follows the pattern of the measure already submitted by Rep. Knutson, would provide for an increase in personal exemptions and a percentage reduction in all brackets, but without corresponding increase in corporation taxes.

A Modest Request

A MOST FRUGAL congressman will find it hard to quarrel with one item in the president's 1949 budget. That is the modest request for $24,000,000 for ship construction, and $15,300,000 for contract authorization.

Those figures look even more modest beside the billions asked for other branches of national defense. We say "other" because it is generally accepted that a shipbuilding industry and a modern, adequate merchant marine are important to our safety.

The president said that scarcity of steel, surplus war-built tonnage, and "uncertainties regarding the future economic requirements for shipping" prompted his decision. He does not think that the Maritime Commission should start any construction now without contracts for sale to private operators.

In this, Mr. Truman goes farther than the State Department in its analysis of European aid requirements. Even on the Marshall Plan's home grounds it is felt that our maritime position, especially in the passenger field, is "unimpressive." The department recommends that European ship-building be deferred after ships now under construction or contract are finished.

The Keller committee, Truman's advisory group, proposed a "modest start" on eight U. S. passenger ships in fiscal '46, and a big construction program for the next three years at a cost of about $150,000,000 a year. But no start has been made on the 1948 program, and it is too late to make one before the fiscal year ends. So Mr. Truman's recommendation, in effect, puts the 1948 program into 1949.

The Maritime Commission now has almost $60,000,000 for ship construction. And there are passenger lines with approved plans for new ships, and money in the bank.

The operators say they could get ships built in foreign yards for half or less than they would cost here. But that wouldn't help American shipbuilding, and besides they wouldn't be able to get an operational subsidy. So they want a 50 per cent construction subsidy.

The commission is permitted to grant a 50 per cent subsidy if it can be shown that the difference between American and foreign construction costs is really that much. They think the difference is nearer 40 per cent. There the matter rests.

All the dire and oft-repeated predictions seem to be coming true. The last construction job on the horizon for private yards will be finished by August. Shipyard employment is down to 30,000 and is expected to go to 10,000.

The United States still has only one first-class passenger ship to compete with foreign luxury liners. There are only 30 passenger vessels remaining of the 113 operating under the American flag in December, 1941. In spite of war-built surplus, there is a shortage of tankers and fast cargo ships.

Welcome Promise

A PROMISE by Secretary of State Fred A. Alger that every effort will be made to provide two license plates on automobiles in 1949 is certain to receive approval by law enforcement officials and, for that matter, by the public in general.

The one-plate policy in effect for the past several years has been a deterrent to good law enforcement because it makes quick identification of automobiles very difficult. The fact that the state has acted slowly in returning to the standard two-plate system has led to fears that the policy was being abandoned and that for economy reasons the state would continue to issue only one plate for automobiles.

At any rate, Secretary Alger has reported that a promise has been received from steel suppliers for the metal needed to return to the two-plate system in 1949 and that work in stamping the plates would begin shortly.

MORGENTHAU'S PERFECT ALIBI

(Milwaukee Journal)

If ever we saw a man with a perfect defense, it is Henry Morgenthau, former secretary of the treasury. His name was mentioned on a list of persons supposed to show how government insiders speculated in grain and profited at the country's expense, because of their information.

Yes, Mr. Morgenthau engaged in transactions. But evidence so far shows that (1) he had been out of public office a year and a half; (2) he sold short, which is supposed to depress instead of raise the prices; (3) he lost money, showing he hardly had any "inside dope."

The worst conclusion that anyone may draw, thus far, is that Mr. Morgenthau was guilty of deficient sagacity.

DON'T DROP THOSE CONSONANTS!

Overheard in a filling station: "Now is there anything we could show you in the way of uh-CESS-uh-ries?" The word accessories was correctly used; but the first syllable consonant "c" was dropped as if the word were spelled "a-cess-so-ries." This mispronunciation is also quite common among women shoppers, saleswomen, etc., who speak of "ah-CESS-uh-ries" to a dress, suit, or costume.

The word accessory is derived from access, which, of course, is always pronounced AK-cess, and the first "c" is never omitted in the other derivatives, such as accession and accessible. Just why it is dropped from accessory and accessories is one of those minor mysteries that are found throughout our lovely, looney language.

At any rate, we should pronounce the first "c" for, in English, "c" is always hard when it follows a vowel and ends a syllable, as in ac-ci-dent, oc-cu-py, success, vac-cine, etc. Be sure to pronounce accessories as ak-CESS-uh-reez.

Overheard at a wedding reception: "She's lost so much weight I hardly REK-uh-mind her." The word recognize is divided thus: rec-og-nize. Like the consonant "c," the consonant "g" is always hard when it follows a vowel and ends a syllable. Therefore, the second-syllable "g" of recognize obviously is not meant to be silent. Recognize should be pronounced: REK-uh-nize. And the "g" should be heard in all such words as recognition and recognize.

The mispronunciations "len'th" and "stren'th" for length and strength are not heard as often as they once were, except in dialectal speech. But they are heard fre-

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — In their searching and highly significant report, the president's air policy commission did not pass judgment on how the total defense budget is divided between Army, Navy and Air Forces. But anyone who reads that report carefully can tell that the commission felt a lot of money now being spent on defense is being wasted because it is going for "yesterday's war."

Childs

Neither the Army nor the Navy has faced up to present-day realities. Millions and millions of dollars are being spent in ways that can never serve the security of the United States. This is true in spite of the merger of the armed services six months ago which was meant to stop such wastes.

The facts are known, in part at least, to men in high position, some of them in uniform. Waste on yesterday's war—or even day-before-yesterday's war—is particularly obvious in the Navy. For example, shore installations which are being maintained on the Pacific coast can have no possible relation to any future war.

NO SECOND CHANCE

In the old days, when America was relatively isolated by the two oceans, this kind of waste did not matter too much. The military establishment was hardly more than a kind of museum piece. At the outbreak of a war we would brush it aside and build a new modern war machine. Behind the barrier of the oceans, there was always time.

But as the air policy commission's report—called "Survival in the Air Age"—makes dramatically clear, we shall never again have that much time. In the age of jet bombers and guided missiles, there is no second chance. An atomic Pearl Harbor would mean final and utter defeat and disaster.

The commission's report is the first overall, impartial examination of the postwar military establishment and over-all strategy, if any. The commission was not authorized to pass on how the total defense budget should be spent. They came close to it, however, when they said:

"We view with great anxiety the pressures from many sides directed towards the maintenance of yesterday's establishment to fight tomorrow's war; an unwillingness to discard the old and take on the new; a determination to advance the interest of a segment at the sacrifice of the body as a whole. All this is understandable. For it comes in large part from loyalty of each service to its traditions. But we can no longer afford the waste it involves. Hope rests only with the ability of the secretary of defense under the present to discharge effectively his authority vested in him with one objective in mind—the maximum in security for the minimum cost. It is imperative that this be done; for unless it is we will not have a military establishment capable of defending the country."

The air commission called on Secretary of Defense James Forrestal to show that what had been done thus far to integrate the services and bring about essential economy. In tangible results Forrestal could show very little.

HARD TO CHANGE NAVY

Members of the commission were fully aware of the tremendous task that was dumped in Forrestal's lap. In the past the Navy has been the only force maintained between wars. It was kept in being to guard the sea approaches to the United States. Vested interests have grown up around the Navy that are like barnacles which fasten on a ship too long in port. It is an institution hoary with tradition and hedged around by guardians of that tradition.

Forrestal's job is now to keep the Navy as a force in being and as a security weapon safeguarding American interests all over the world while at the same time creating a second force in being in the air to guard the air approaches to the nation. To carry out the second half of this assignment means inevitably that the Navy must be pruned: (1) Because many of its functions are now those of yesterday's war; and (2) Because the necessary money simply will not be available unless there is a drastic pruning.

The vested interests are not, of course, all inside the Army and the Navy. For many years after they had outgrown any conceivable usefulness for defense, the Army continued to maintain posts that in their day had been useful in fighting the Indians. When it was proposed to abolish these posts, nearby towns rose up in indignation and brought congressional pressure to bear to stop the move. That happened repeatedly, and naturally, Army officers, who didn't want to see any change, could ally themselves with these interests. Those days are gone forever. If Congress and the nation persist in living in that kind of a past, then the awakening will eventually be a rude one.

quently enough to justify the warning: Don't drop the "g." When length and strength are correctly pronounced, the sound of "ngk" occurs before the "th" thus: lengthk: strengthk. While some speakers do not sound the "k," it does prevail in Standard American.

Tomorrow we'll discuss suggest again.

Preparing for the Big November Vote Harvest

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

WINTER WEATHER—In the newspaper the other day was a picture of a lady feeding coal to the pigs. The pigs and the lady live in Colorado. Beneath the picture it explained that the lady was feeding coal and salt to the pigs to save grain, so that more grain could be sent to the starving people of Europe.

While we agree that it is laudable to save grain to feed Europeans, there is one thing in connection with the lady and pig story that leaves us mystified. The lady was reported as paying $5 a ton for the coal she fed the pigs. We do not know where the lady purchased her coal, but if she can get more of it at $5 a ton she could easily establish herself in the coal business, sell it at the going rate in Escanaba and make herself a small fortune in a few days. She could still keep the pigs if she wanted to.

ZERO NOTES—There is something about a sub-zero cold snap that brings out the best in all men. They cling to their homes, and only a major catastrophe (like a frozen car radiator) can get them to poke their noses out doors. Wives should be grateful. They know where to find their husbands every evening. All they have to do is look in the living room on the sofa. He will be found stretched out listening to the radio, reading, or just sleeping.

Wives who want to wake up their husbands who have reached this condition of hibernation have only to mention something about "cold weather certainly cuts in to our coal pile." This will wake him up but he will be grumpy and a poor companion to have around. Better to let sleeping dogs lie.

REPORT FROM COUNTY—On Jan. 14 at the height of the cold wave a note was received from Werner J. Vietzke of Rapid River Rt. 2, reporting on the condition of things in the county; together with the result of an experiment in which you will be interested:

"Radio says 'Escanaba 6 below zero.' Out here it was 12 below zero."

"Some years ago we made a little research on the weather reports."

"When we left home the thermometer registered 15 below zero, wind westerly by northwest."

"Windshield frosted."

"Kipling 15 below zero."

"Gladstone 12 below zero."

"Road between Gladstone and Escanaba 15-16 below zero."

"North Escanaba 16 below zero."

"East Escanaba (near Press office) 7-8-9 below (slight regular variations)."

"Conclusion: Smoke heat waste, roof heat waste, automobile exhaust, railroad yards, etc. gave off enough heat to keep cold air up or away; wind drove warmth toward east Escanaba."

"On way home: North Escanaba, 17 below zero."

THE BING BANGS—Johnny Herbert of 915 Lake Shore drive wanted to know if we were bothered by mysterious noises at our house in the early part of the night. Something that bangs he added someone had struck the side of the house with a board. We said yes, we had, which seemed to make him satisfied that such noises were not peculiar to his own domicile.

These noises, we explained as

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Munising—Miss Hildur Runsat has returned to Washington, D. C. after spending two weeks here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Runsat.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Jacques, Danforth, are the parents of a son born Jan. 18 at St. Francis hospital.

Escanaba—Miss Mary Stack, of Lansing, and Miss Margaret Stack, of Manistee, have arrived here. They were called by the illness of their sister, Ruth, who is receiving treatment in St. Francis hospital for pneumonia.

Escanaba—Kenneth C. Vogt and his trained, pedigreed skunk, Smelt the Great, are leaving today for Detroit where they will collaborate in publicizing the tourist attractions of Delta County at the Detroit and Michigan expositions.

Manistee—Mrs. Elmer Nelson and son Buddy, have left for an indefinite stay in Duluth, Minn.

20 Years Ago

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simonsen are the parents of a son.

Escanaba—Mrs. Walter Depew has left for Chicago to visit her daughter, Miss Lillian Jolly, R. N., who is employed in Cook county hospital. Miss Jolly has been ill with pleurisy the past two weeks.

Manistee—Dr. Edith McLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McLeod, has opened up an office here to practice medicine.

Gladstone—Harry Haglund has resigned from his position at the Rialto theatre and will leave shortly for Chicago to attend school.

Schaffer—Linden Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Peterson, submitted to an appendectomy at St. Francis hospital.

If we knew what we were talking about, is caused by the expansion and contraction within the walls when the temperature changes. When the temperature drops to around zero or below the pressure change is sometimes accompanied by a loud bang.

The same change occurs within the bodies of forest trees and on a cold night, after a sunny day, the sound is something like a rattling volley of rifle fire.

GOOD FOR FISHERMEN—The extremely cold weather is welcomed by commercial fishermen, who may now safely go out on the bay ice with their equipment. It is unlikely that the ice will move out of Little Bay de Noc for a couple months, perhaps longer.

Prior to the recent cold snap the bay south of Escanaba was not being fished because the ice was still dangerously thin. This meant that some of the finest fishing grounds could not be reached.

Now fishermen can set nets at the whitish and smelt grounds, and bring in more desirable fish from the standpoint of market price.

JANUARY THAW—It has come to be a tradition that a thaw occurs sometime in January. Seldom does all the snow melt away, but it does reduce the depth of snow covering the ground and make for better driving conditions. Woods-men welcome both the recent cold wave because it freezes a good "bottom" on their winter roads; and the January thaw because it makes it easier to move logs out to the roads for loading and hauling.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Clare Boothe Luce, who can't be accused of being remotely pro-Communist, once diagnosed the USA-USSR tug-of-war as follows:

"In the early part of the last century, the United States was a young, rebel republic. We had a new political idea. Everybody wanted to imitate us."

"Today, Russia has come along with a newer political idea and assumed the political leadership of Europe. We've got to get that leadership back."

Phony as the Communist political leadership is, Clare Luce is right. The Soviet ideology is new, has been sold with great cleverness and has bamboozled a good many people. Furthermore it has sold Europe on at least one idea which is definitely worth while, and which, without the Communist taint, could be the solution of the European imbroglio.

After World War I, I spent considerable time in the Balkans. At that time the hate between the peoples of that area was beyond belief. To illustrate: I once tried to work out a deal whereby the broken-down locomotives of Yugoslavia would be repaired in the idle machine shops of Austria in return for Yugoslav corn. Vienna was then starving. Corn in Yugoslavia was rotting. However, the Yugoslav government said they would rather have no trains at all than feed the hated Austrians.

In no part of southern Europe was this hatred worse than between the Italians and the Yugoslavs around Trieste and Fiume.

U. S. OF BALKANS

Two weeks ago I revisited this part of Europe. There are still a great many Italians along the Yugoslav border who hate the Yugoslavs and vice versa. However, I was amazed to find that Tito and the Communists had been able to make an appreciable change.

They have been able to convince a surprising number of Italians and Yugoslavs that they should live and work together peacefully—provided, of course, they lived and worked under Communist rule. I was almost amazed to find that in northern Italy where the Communists control about 50 per cent of the local governments, it is bad political medicine to criticize Tito.

In other words, the Communists, by some of the shrewdest propaganda in the world, have managed to wipe out at least some of the age-old hatred between these countries. They are also making progress toward Moscow's plan for a United States of the Balkans, which would unite Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Roumania, Albania and the new independent so-called Republic of Greece.

No matter what you may think of Tito, it remains a fact that economically this part of the world was much better off when its diverse resources were pooled under the old Austro-Hungarian empire. If they are pooled again today under Tito, they might also be better off economically. Politically, it's a horse of a different color. Furthermore a United States of the Balkans would be a powerful and embarrassing weapon against the USA in our attempt to keep Greece out of Soviet hands.

MARSHALL PLAN FALLS SHORT

All of this boils down to the fact that the gentlemen in the Kremlin have been smart enough to steal the best political weapon the United States of America has—namely, the United States of Europe.

At this point the Marshall Plan comes in. Whether the Chicago Tribune likes it or not, the Marshall Plan has been the most powerful road-block so far in the westward sweep of Communism. It has given Moscow a definite setback in France and Italy and sent the Politburo scurrying around to find new victories in Greece, Austria and perhaps Czechoslovakia.

The Marshall Plan has given great encouragement to a democratic western Europe. But the big question is: Does it go far enough? Will the Marshall Plan be merely a temporary stopgap? Will it carry Europe definitely over the reconstruction hump and put her permanently back on her feet?

My own conclusion is that it does not go far enough, and that Europe will never get permanently back on her feet until the artificial barriers which break Europe up into petty pools of potential hate are flattened out. In other words, there has got to be a United States of Europe.

And the biggest mistake made by the Marshall planners—though not an irreparable one—was not to tie up the United States of Europe with the Marshall Plan.

There is still time to do this. Already France and Italy have started to discuss tariff barriers and mutual economic problems. France, for instance, needs labor. Italy, on the other hand, has heavy unemployment. Therefore, France plans to use some of this Italian labor.

U. S. A. SHOULD LEAD

However, these two countries alone cannot build a United States of Europe. Furthermore, European prejudice is deep-rooted. It will take astute and forceful statesmanship from the outside to build a United States of Europe. In his Harvard speech General Marshall has already laid the foundation for such a union, but he will have to go a lot further.

Obviously the first step is a United States of Western Europe which would include such countries as France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, the Scandinavian countries, Switzerland and so on.

We'll soon be looking for the best cure for one of the worst ailments—shovelitis.

Sweden Hopes To Keep Out Of Future Wars

BY HERMAN G. NELSON
Stockholm, Sweden.—After I had visited Prime Minister Tage Erlander in his office last Friday afternoon, he called to invite me to lunch at Opera källaren. At this lunch Tuesday, I had the privilege of meeting and talking freely with the prime minister of Sweden and also with Foreign Minister Osten Unden, Minister of Commerce Axel Gjöres and Axel Kugelberg, managing director of the Swedish Employers' confederation.

I asked Foreign Minister Unden if Sweden was turning its face to the United States or Russia and his reply was typically Swedish: Sweden is charting its own course, turning neither to the United States or Russia in any special way. He stated that it is the hope of Sweden it can keep out of future wars as it has during the last two wars.

When I pointed out that Sweden in the next war, if there is one, might be caught in the middle and become the crucial and bloody battle ground of two ideologies, the Swedish foreign minister replied that in a future war, with the atomic bomb, it may not matter much where one is located since the whole world will become a battleground and be scorched.

Asked if Sweden had an atomic bomb, Unden replied in the negative. He replied again in typical Swedish fashion that his country is not attempting to compete with other nations in perfecting the atomic bomb but that several of Sweden's top scientists were working on atomic energy problems to seek to harness it for useful and scientific purposes, especially for medical progress and for power.

Will Attend Centennial
Our conversation was lively and interesting and we chatted as if we had been friends for years. Minister Gjöres apparently has been chosen to represent the official Swedish government in the United States during the Swedish pioneer celebration and Erlander said that Gjöres would be the one but the prime minister indicated he is tempted to fly over for the opening week of the observance in June and then return home while the others stayed there. He has cousins in Chicago.

The conversation was interesting on the subject of foreign and domestic questions since these are the men who must defend their position and policies this year in the elections to be held next September. Criticism of their policies is just as heated and more unkind in a large part of the press and by many Swedish citizens as is the criticism back home of President Truman. On the other hand, the common people and working people seem to be standing back of the leaders of their Social Democratic party. Opponents are hoping the restrictions which have been imposed and which will be added may swing enough votes away from the dominant party to defeat its leaders.

The debate here hinges on the question of bureaucracy and increased government control versus private initiative and enterprise.

Little Time for Shopping
In one week time in Sweden, I have met King Gustaf V, also the cabinet members of the Swedish government, have seen the opening of the Swedish riksdag, welcomed and greeted Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota, heard him give an address at the International club of Stockholm, where I also was at the speaker's table, met with the Swedish committee arranging for Sweden's participation in the pioneer celebration and have had dinner in a number of Stockholm homes. But in that week, I have had exactly 90 minutes to myself for shopping. I know that my wife and two daughters and some of my other friends will be looking for some gifts. There are severe export restrictions in Sweden now and I am informed I cannot take out of the country any textiles or glassware. I have bought some inlaid sill herring and a few other Swedish delicacies for the smorgasbord, but beyond that I have not had time to buy anything except some typically hemlock mittens for my wife and daughters. A number of people have sent books to the hotel, but the question now arises how shall I get the books home. The limit is 66 pounds of baggage for those who fly. After a three-day visit in Gothenburg and Boras, I shall be back in Stockholm one day, when I shall have a meeting with Prince Bertil in his apartment in the King's castle. I met Prince Bertil in the United States in 1938 and we are happy that he will be returning next June to head the Swedish delegation to the United States.

Prince Bertil is practical, however. He has told the committee he will not have anyone on the delegation who has ulcers since he does not want to have to act the nurse to any of them. He says it will take a cast-iron stomach to survive a month of festivities in the United States and I guess he is right.

It may be interesting to you to know that all school children in Sweden get free dental care. School dentists, many of them women, are employed by the schools and they do all the work on the children's teeth. Preschool children also get free dental care.

Movie About Indiscreet
Senator O. K. Says
Bob Ruark

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
New York — There has been considerable breast beating lately over a picture called "The Senator Was Indiscreet". Master Paul Gallico, of the position, was grieving exceedingly the other day that this undistinguished flicker was practically in the sedition department.

As I recall it, Master Gallico has all set up about making cynical fun of that great and august body, the Senate, in a year of awful decision. He was saying all Senators aren't like that which is true, and that we built no character to go around representing our lawmakers as glibly dopes and expedient morons.

It is certainly true that all our Washington residents are not Mortimer Snerks in frock coats, and that a great many of them are clearly competent laddybucks with a deep sense of public service. I have met many legislative gentlemen I would allow in the house.

But I knew some like handsome Bob Reynolds and Kenneth McKellar and the late lamented Mr. Bilbo. I regard Huey Long with more interest than awe, and over in the other building there was Marion Zioncheck playing with his personal paper dolls. There was also Andy May. All elected. All members of the body. Lawmakers, all, and potential presidents.

Stifling of Criticism
I begin to fret a little over this growing tendency to immunize any group from criticism, sarcasm, run-poking. For one thing, I make a living with a needle. For another, it gets to be unhealthy when people start hollering "lynch him" everytime you get irreverent with the big folks. Me, I would like to get irreverent with anybody without being accused of trying to sabotage the nation.

There are no less reverent men alive than messrs. Nunnally Johnson and Charles MacArthur, who built this show about a rattleneaded machine politician with a yen to be president. Their senator was pretty silly, but not a great deal sillier than some we've had. And I would say that both Nunnally and Charlie are both too rich and fun-loving to be included in any plot to overthrow the country.

I thought the biggest example of jerkdom I ever saw was the late Safari by the Bacalls and Agarts to Washington, to recite their feeble protestations in behalf of the twisted ideology hounds who were on the hook for Communist affiliation. They were silly people being used to the hilt by press agents and the commies themselves, for their newspaper space value.

The Right to Laugh
But this thing of "The Senator" is a lot different. Nunnally and MacArthur are invoking a pretty well-earned American freedom, which is the right to laugh at your leaders if even one of the leaders rates laughing at. I would like to raise a feeble voice in behalf of that right, because the very day you start making demigods out of politicians and military men you start asking for the castor-oil treatment. Nobody ever accused Will Rogers of anything but patriotism, and she shoved six inches of quill into somebody in Washington every day.

Johnson's Senator was a caricature, sure, and not representative of the group, sure. Maybe not even of machine politics. But I just happen to have a couple of statistics with me.

Henry Wallace served two terms as vice-president, while employing a tame astrophysicist and a medicine-pouch man to advise him on state affairs. Morgenstern was secretary of the national till for longer than anybody else ever was. There was President Harding and Teapot Dome and the Pennington machine.

I will defend Messrs. MacArthur and Johnson so long as we have things like the first half of the Howard Hughes hearing—so long as we have the cousin Ed Pauleys and the Andy Mays. When the presidential medico is playing the grain market when he should be taking soundings on the prexy's pump; when one scandal bursts out of another, in this election year of awful decision, I want to be able to holler about it, without having my criticism assailed.

At the moment, the only fault I have to find with "The Senator Was Indiscreet" is that they didn't typecast Sen. Brewster, rather than William Powell, in the title role.

Engadine

Vage-La Mirande Wedding
Engadine, Mich.—A quiet wedding ceremony took place Saturday, Jan. 10, 1948 at five o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hastings. Before the first place, the Rev. A. R. Garrison performed the ceremony, uniting in marriage Audrey Vage and Hubert La Mirande, both of Newberry.

Audrey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hastings of Engadine and Hubert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter La Mirande of Newberry.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served to the immediate family at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tier wedding cake topped with a bride couple centered the table and an arrangement of flowers.

The couple is employed at the Newberry State hospital. The newlyweds are residing at the State hospital location.

Hollywood Column

Johnson

Hollywood, (NEA)—Title of new singing star Doris Day's initial movie, "Romance in High C," has been changed to "Romance on the High Seas." The reason for the title change is typically Hollywood. A lot of exhibitors started complaining that "Romance in High C" sounded like an operatic story and would drive people away from the box office.

Doris insists there's no romance with Jack Carson. She still hasn't filed suit for divorce against her estranged husband, musician George Weidler, the brother of Virginia Weidler, the ex-kid star.

George Montgomery's comment to Dinah Shore after the birth of Melissa Ann was a goodie. Said Montgomery: "She sure has the new look." . . . Dorothy Lamour may have given up her sarong temporarily, but she just acquired one trimmed with gold sequins. She'll wear it for charity appearances. Dottie is taking daily French lessons for her warbling in French in "Let's Fall in Love."

MARLENE SUEDE
Marlene Dietrich is being sued by a French film producer for $100,000. He's charging breach of contract. . . . Orson Welles in Italy, is bombarding actress Gilda Stewart with flowers and some highly romantic letters. She played the dance hall hostess in "The Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap," and goes on the road soon in "Mary Had a Little." Didn't Orson's ex, Rita Hayworth, play a gal named Gilda?

Vic Mature is coaching young O'Keefe Brasselle for a film test he'll make for the role of the kid in "Knock on Any Door." O'Keefe graduated from studio office boy to actor. . . . Ann Sheridan and boy friend Steve Hannagan are headed for Connecticut and then Florida. Ann is about to sell her big Encino ranch home.

The current 4-year-long film production will be written off by late January, when 72 films will either be in front of the cameras or in the cutting rooms.

The biography of the Duke of Windsor may prove to be a headache to the studio that writes a check for $350,000 for the film rights—and several studios are after it. A national mag owns the rights to the first 21 years of the Duke's life and Lord Beaverbrook owns the world rights, except in the United States, to all biographical material on the ex-king.

Academy nomination polls for 1947 Oscars close January 27. The nominees will be announced February 16. Final ballots will be mailed March 1 and the awards will be made Saturday night, March 20.

ANNUAL TREAT
"Miracle on 34th Street," that delightful bit of whimsy that should win Edmund Gwenn a supporting-role Oscar, will be reissued annually as a Christmas special by 20th Century-Fox. . . . Promised and hoped for: Joel McCrea playing a lady-shy, gun-happy Texan in "Lady-Shy From Texas."

Monogram is again talking about casting strip teaser Ann Ciro as a feminine horse opera star. . . . Some Lloyd Bacon of the future, thinks Lloyd Bacon, will include the following definition: THEATER: A large device for popping popcorn.

The break-up between Lana Turner and Ty Power caught dress designer Harry Finer with over 2000 mailing photographs of the pair with this line printed beneath: "Lana won Ty's heart in a Harry Finer suit." Now Harry is ready to donate the photos to the scrap paper drive.

PHOTOGRAPHED LEATHER

ETCHED RAYON

SWISS SEERSUCKER

ELASTICIZED JERSEY

CADET CLOTH

WORSTED DENIM

BY EPSIE KINARD

NEA Fashion Editor

New York, (NEA)—New fabrics fulfilling postwar promises of textile wonders share spring debut fanfare with fashion's "new look."

One fabric making its bow is a rayon crepe imprinted by means of a new etching process. The process makes an ink-scratched "picture"—resembling an etching on parchment or paper—which occupies the front of a bodice of a white one-piece crepe dress. The etching, shown top right, which decorates a Tina Lesors designed tropical scene with a colorfully clad girl and fisherman swinging in a catch.

"Photographed" leather gives pastel-colored handbags and gloves a sensational New Look. These accessories top left, are printed with camera-caught images which makers claim won't rub off.

A dazzling striped cotton seersucker is Switzerland's contribution to new play duds. Making stylized use of this crinkly cotton is the one-piece bathing suit, top center, with bloomer pants, halter top and a sash-tied midriff.

The blang and white, striped top of the two-piece bathing suit, bottom left, is a Claire McCardell design which dramatizes the new use of elasticized jersey. Elastic woven into fabric gives it hug-me-tight but flexible fit.

New frosting for spring's perennial navy blue suits and dresses is cadet cloth, a starched white cotton used almost exclusively up to now to make West Pointers' trousers. At bottom center is designer Ben Reig's use of cadet cloth to put white icing on a navy blue suit with collar and cuffs which have no rivals that can boast a more immaculate look.

Worsted denim, a woolen copy-cattling the crisp finish and two-tone weave of cotton workwear denim, is another newcomer. The worsted denim suit, bottom right, of traditional blue is made up of a McCardell-designed long full skirt and a capelet-styled jacket.

Let Teen-Ager
Dress Like PalsBY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Allow your young daughter to dress like the other girls in her crowd, and you'll have a happier teen-ager on your hands. To insist that she dress more individually is apt to be a mistake. The normal teen-age impulse is to want to merge into the group; not to stand apart from it.

Every mother who prizes her own individuality in dress naturally wants to help shape her daughter's taste. That's as it should be. However, be willing to wait until the time is ripe for fashion training. It will come, but not until the apple of your eye overcomes a self-consciousness which is typical of her age group. While she is going through the self-conscious period, she wants to look like all the other girls in her crowd. Her reaction to any dress that makes her look "different" will be a feeling of sheer misery.

Mothers who realize this and bow to it when clothes are chosen will be able to kick neatly aside one of the big stumbling blocks that interferes with a pleasant parent-daughter relationship.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are leaving a person to whom you have just been introduced. He says, "I'm so glad to have met you."

WRONG WAY: Say nothing, but smile and leave.

RIGHT WAY: Say, "Thank you. Goodbye."

SITUATION: You are closing a letter to a friend.

WRONG WAY: End it with, "Well, I must close."

RIGHT WAY: Say all that you have to say and then stop. There is no need to explain that you are closing your letter.

The Manistique District Nurses' Association, at its last regular meeting, held at the home of Mrs. George Dupont, devoted practically all of its evening's activities to the preparation of cancer dressings for use in Schoolcraft county by nurses.

This activity was in keeping with the current cancer drive now on and will be a practice of all their meetings while the drive is on.

Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert, chairman of the cancer fund drive in Schoolcraft county, calls attention to this activity as one phase of the local participation in the drive of the American Cancer Society for assistance in the great work that organization is doing.

While the drive for funds in this area is being promoted in a modest way at this time so as not to interfere with the current Infantile Paralysis fund campaign, donations will be gratefully received.

"WELCOME TO MANISTIQUE" — Per Ephraim Anderson (right), of Neokar, Sweden, who long sought in vain to find relatives in America he had made a trip to visit, is being welcomed to Manistique by the Rev. Harold Martinson, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church in Manistique, through whose contacts with the Travelers Aid Society in New York City, Anderson was able to get in touch with local relatives. The scene is in front of the church Sunday morning. (Photo by Linderoth)

Warm Welcome Given
Visitor From Sweden

Per Ephraim Anderson, the 68-year old Swedish farmer, whose search for relatives in America nearly ended in disappointment, is now enjoying the status of honored guest at the home of his second-cousin, Walter Linderoth, 145 North Houghton avenue, and almost hourly is meeting new members of the family circle or some fellow countryman from his home town of Neokar or home province of Nordmalming.

Still bewildered over the sudden turn of events which turned loneliness and hopelessness into a joyful reunion among more kinfolks than he ever knew existed he is in a position of one having to pinch himself in order to make sure that it isn't a dream.

All Tired Out

Anderson was met at Mackinaw City Saturday morning by Walter Linderoth. Also present, as he stepped off of the train were Associate Press photographers, who were anxious to get a picture of the man who had made the trip from Northern Sweden to America to visit relatives of whose identity he wasn't sure. Arriving in Manistique early in the afternoon, he asked to be excused in relating his experience here, saying that all he wanted for the time being was a good rest. He had ridden in a day coach all the way from New York City and had slept very little for several days prior to that. Sunday morning, much refreshed, he was ready to assume his role as visitor.

He attended services at Bethel Baptist church and although the sermon was in English he found much happiness in the hearty handclasp of Pastor Harold Martinson and members of the congregation who spoke to him in Swedish.

Meets Many Relatives

From then on throughout the day it was a continual round of meeting relatives and of friends from the old country. Among the latter were John Blomquist and Einar Gustafson, of Manistique, whom he had known many years ago.

He is still unable to understand why so much ado should be made about his visit. He had been shown a Swedish newspaper published in Chicago and was a bit provoked over some of the "galenskap" (hoovey, in the American vernacular) it contained. "I wonder who ever told them that I had been saving money for 23 years to make this trip," he wanted to know. He then explained that he is, what is commonly known in America as a "retired farmer," and while he isn't rich, nor even well to do, such a journey would not have worked a hardship on him any more years ago than it would have today. He was, however, deeply grateful for the publicity which brought him in contact with his relatives.

Impressed With America

"America certainly is a vast and wonderful country," he said. He is particularly impressed with the large cities, their teeming populations and giant buildings. He liked it best in Upper Michigan, however. "Your birch, your pine and spruce trees, remind me of my own homeland," he said. "But you don't have the mountains here, like we do there," he added.

Sweden is prosperous, he says. Up in his country where lumbering and paper making are carried on in a vast scale there has been no letup in activity.

Farmers are also prosperous, though in that area north of the Arctic circle, the scope of operations is decidedly limited. "We have eight months winter there," he said in all seriousness. The growing season, therefore, is very short. The fact that there is almost continuous daylight for several weeks is the compensating factor in farming he explained. Rye, potatoes and oats are the principal crops. Dairying is also profitable.

While not familiar enough with prices in this country to make a comparison, he said that everything was very expensive and practically every household necessity was rationed. Rationing restrictions on coffee and sugar were particularly rigid and the quality

COUNTY BOARD
MEETS TUESDAYReports Of Departments
Of County To Take Up Much Time

Hearing of annual reports from various county governmental departments is due to occupy a good share of the time of the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors when it convenes here Tuesday morning.

Among these reports will be that of the county road commission, the welfare board, the county agricultural agent, the health department, soldiers and sailors relief commission and the fire truck report.

Also to be reported will be the annual accounting of the Schoolcraft County Council of Veteran Affairs and a request for its continuance.

There is a possibility also that the supervisors will consider the hiring of a county health director to succeed Dr. W. J. Broad, who recently resigned after serving here since August, Dr. E. J. Brenner, former director, is part time director until a successor is named.

of the coffee was poor. He commented, with a wry smile, "This coffee restriction is pretty hard on us Swedes."

No Russian Score

Concerning the political situation in Sweden, he said one hears little if any talk of impending war and nobody is excited about Russia like they are here in America. He was unable to account for this apparent to the red menace.

His Swedish friends and relatives in Manistique have come face to face, since his arrival, with a serious problem—how to converse intelligently with this man who understands no English whatsoever. They have found that what they thought was King Gustav Swedish is a jargon which few but themselves can understand. Conversation with Anderson, for that reason, has been difficult and much conversational improvisation has had to be resorted to before each question has been properly put across.

Such an ordeal, however, is not new to Anderson. "There were many days since my arrival in America on Nov. 26, that I saw no one of the thousands of people I met, whom I could talk to," he said. At the Travelers Aid, however, those who came to his assistance spoke excellent Swedish.

Among the relatives whom he has met since his arrival or whom he will meet before his return are: An aunt, Mrs. Jennie Oberg, Detroit; first cousins, Mrs. James Swayne, Chicago, Ill.; Alvin G. Oberg, Detroit; LeRoy Oberg, Manistique; second cousins, Carl Linderoth, Benton Harbor; Vern and Walter Linderoth, Mrs. Eugene Swingle, Mrs. John Vaughn, Mrs. Mauritz Peterson, and Mrs. John Anderson, all of Manistique.

Two sixteen-year-old Sault Ste. Marie youths, picked up by local state police Friday morning and charged with car theft, were turned over to Soo authorities Saturday.

When questioned by state police here, they admitted that they had stolen a car in their home city and had driven it as far as its supply of gasoline would allow, abandoning it at Thompson. ESCANABA FIVE TIED FOR LEAD

Bob Ranguette Returns To Form To Pace NWM Wins

With a double victory over the weekend—a 72-63 triumph over Squinch's Bar in Iron Mountain Saturday night and a rousing 55-43 win over Vulcan here yesterday afternoon—the local Hardware's cagers moved ahead of defending champion Iron River Trucks and were left tied with Hermansville for the lead in the fast North-Western Wisconsin Basketball league.

Vulcan gave the Hardware's all the fight they could bargain for here yesterday. Four quick field goals and a free throw gave them a 9-5 lead at the outset, but the Hardware's managed an 11-11 tie at the close of the first quarter. They stretched this to 23-25 at halftime.

Thanks to a bang-up third-quarter scoring spree when the Hardware's were fast breaking all over the place, Escanaba established its winning margin, for the visitors outscored the home five, 12-11, in the finale. Manager Arnold Johnson's cagers tallied 16 points to six for Vulcan in the third canto.

Vulcan had particularly hard luck with its shots in the last half, or the score would have been much closer. The visiting cagers played the entire game with only five men. The night before they had defeated Norway while the Escanabans were trimming Iron Mountain.

In the preliminary, Gladstone Lions tipped State Bank of Escanaba, 34-30, with Mickey Kuchenberg hitting 12 for the losers.

Bob Ranguette again led the scoring, pushing 25 points in against Vulcan, after racking up 29 points against Iron Mountain the night before on the strength of 13 field goals and three free throws.

Roy Johnson, Ranguette's "feeder" running mate at forward, had a big weekend of scoring, also, tallying 13 points against Vulcan. Bob Anderson contributed 14 points in the Iron Mountain melee.

Escanaba ran away to a 19-8 first-quarter lead and held a 31-26 edge at halftime. This, they stretched to 50-41 in the third quarter.

The finale was a thriller. Each team banged in 22 points.

The advance ticket sale for the Golden Gloves has been brisk, indicating capacity crowds for both nights of the local tournament. The local committee is urging fans to secure tickets in advance and thereby be assured of choice seats. The seating capacity at the junior high gymnasium is about 1700, including students for whom the north balcony will again be allocated. Last year hundreds of fans were turned away.

Upwards of 40 amateur boxers will compete in the Escanaba tournament in weight classes varying from 112 pounds to heavyweight of 200 pounds and more. There will be two divisions in each weight class, novice for inexperienced boxers and open division for boys who have had at least three sanctioned bouts.

Attractive prizes will be awarded to competing boxers again this year. Champions in all divisions will receive jackets and runners-up will receive sweaters or a similar suitable award. All boys competing in the tournament will receive a special award, a practical souvenir, a pen engraved with the words "Golden Gloves-Escanaba-1948."

In addition, champions will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Milwaukee to compete in the Milwaukee zone Golden Gloves tournament.

TROJANS LOSE TIGHT BATTLE

Gillis Paces Braves; Henriksen Stars For Escanabans

In one of the closest and hardest-fought games ever played in the William Bonifas gymnasium—a game that lived up to all expectations of being a thriller from start to finish—the Gladstone Braves eked out a 44-43 victory over the St. Joseph's Trojans here Saturday night.

A near-capacity crowd was on hand to see the Upper Peninsula parochial champions in action, and they went away disappointed only that the visitors had nosed out the Escanaba titlists. As far as the game was concerned, it was nip-and-tuck all the way, one of those melees that could have gone either way.

The Trojans stepped into a 14-11 first-quarter lead that was matched by the Braves in the second quarter as the rivals were deadlocked 26-26 at halftime. Never more than a few points separated the foes at any time during the battle.

Gladstone led 33-32 going into the fourth quarter, which was replete with thrills. With both teams fighting in an effort to take more than a slim lead, the rivals were tied at 34-34, then 37-41 and again at 39-41 with less than two minutes to play.

Three free throws by Cliff Gillis played a decisive role in the one-point Gladstone victory. Big Gillis racked up a pair to make it 41-39. Doug Madden hit a field goal to make it 43-39, and after two Trojan free throws had closed the gap to 43-41, with less than a minute to go, Gillis added a third free throw—the one that won the ball game.

For with seconds remaining, Ed Henriksen hit a field goal, a swisher, that made it 44-43, all of which made Gillis' three charity tosses look pretty big.

Gillis set the scoring pace for the Braves with 20 points, seven field goals and six out of seven free throws. Henriksen was the big gun for the Trojans with seven field goals and four free throws.

Free throws decided the game, each five collecting 17 field goals. St. Joe made every one pay off—nine out of nine—but the Braves had more chances. They missed seven free throws but made 10 of them good to pick up that vital one-point margin.

In the preliminary, Gladstone reserves defeated the St. Joe Bees, 34-18.

Eau Claire Skier Dies From Injuries At Norge Ski Meet

Chicago, Jan. 19 (AP)—James Henriksen, 34, of Eau Claire, Wis., member of the 1936 U. S. Olympic ski team, died early today in a Chicago hospital of injuries suffered while competing in the Norge Ski club's 42nd annual jumping tournament yesterday.

Henriksen fell in making his second leap of 179 feet in the Class A division. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and was taken to the hospital unconscious.

Five other contestants were injured. Earl Minkin of Ironwood, Mich., suffered internal injuries in a fall after turning over in the air during a leap, and Peter Peterson of Rockford, Ill., suffered a broken arm in another mishap. Both still were hospitalized today.

Herbert Feddick, William Young and Kenny Warner, all of Duluth, Minn., were less seriously hurt in other accidents.

Arne Ulland of the Norway Ski Association, who flew from Norway to compete in yesterday's meet, won the Class A competition with leaps of 188 and 191 feet. Eugene Wilson, Coleraine, Minn., leaped 189 and 194 feet, but placed second.

Most of the cheers from the crowd of 20,000 went to Arthur Tokle, of Norway, brother of the famous Torger Tokle, killed in action in Italy while serving with American troops. The younger Tokle, who finished third, said he plans to remain in the United States and make his home in New York City.

Ralph Thorsen of Iron Mountain, Mich., won the Class B event on leaps of 179 and 132 feet. His third leap of 179 edged out Charles Bruckelmyer of Minneapolis, who had 137.5. Allan Hamari of Iron Mountain was third with leaps of 175 and 177 feet, good for 136.5 points.

Dave Freeman of Iron Mountain and Wilbur G. Rasmussen of Ishpeming, Mich., finished one-two in the Class C event. Freeman jumped 177 and 185 feet for 140.7 points and Rasmussen collected 140.3 points on leaps of 181 and 187 feet.

Detroit Lions Face Many Big Problems

Detroit, Jan. 19 (AP)—The order of business was a long and pressing one today as the new bosses of the Detroit Lions headed into an afternoon session (4 p. m.) to thrash out a barrel of administrative problems they inherited when they purchased Detroit's National Football League entry last week from Fred L. Mandel, Jr.

But the list of details hanging fire wasn't any longer than the number of names associated with problem No. 1—selection of a head coach to succeed Charles E. (Gus) Dorais.

President D. Lyle Fife declared that choice of a coach automatically would be the first consideration of the board of directors of the Detroit Football company, and that's what today's meeting had to ponder.

Pro Football Star Visits in 'Stique

Manistique, Jan. 19—A football star is visiting in Manistique. He is Ray Ebbi, who finished this season with the Chicago Rockets where he played end. Ebbi and his mother, Mrs. John Ebbi, of Ironwood, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Ebbi, Jr., of this city.

Ebbi played with Notre Dame, playing his last season there in 1942 and also had the honor of playing on the College All-Stars for two successive seasons. Later entering professional football, he played with Buffalo and the Chicago Cards.

The Boston Celtics of the Basketball Association of America lost the first 13 overtime games they played.

Gladstone Indians Tip Newberry Sextet Twice

Gladstone, Jan. 19—The Gladstone Indians forged into second place with a vengeance in the Upper Michigan Amateur Hockey league by pasting two defeats on Newberry over the weekend—4-2 in Newberry Saturday night and 6-1 on Gladstone ice yesterday afternoon.

Peters opened the scoring for Newberry in the Sunday melee with a solo effort at 1:15 of the first period. Whereupon Johnny Lake proceeded to make three in a row for Gladstone to make it 3-1 going into the second period. Eagle came through with two, the first on a solo try and the second assisted by Art Legault, to make it 5-1 in favor of the Indians going into the third session. Manager Gordon Haga kept up with his fast-skating puck chasers by scoring one himself in the last canto.

Some idea of how Gladstone was peppering the goal in the Sunday fray can be obtained by glancing at the goalie stop statistics. Lake made only 12 saves for Gladstone. The Newberry net tender made 21 stops.

At Newberry Saturday, McGillvary opened the scoring on an assist by Lavender. D. Maki, assisted by Haga, got it back in a hurry, however, and
